

Dangerous Cells?

Written by Brad Cloud

Tuesday, 14 September 2010 19:08 - Last Updated Monday, 20 September 2010 22:01

---

We are currently studying the cell. Today we talked about amoebas while we watched a video, and many were amazed at this little creature. I have linked an article about amoebas here. The article has some cool pictures of amoebas, a description, and it even guides in the way of actually catching your own amoeba in a pond.

I have also linked back to my old blog so you can read an article about the dangers of some amoebas.

Remember - amoebas are actually unicellular organisms. This means that they are living things that exist in just one cell!

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Amoeba\_%28genus%29

<http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-sa/3.0/>